

Hiring Manager

Kemmy House

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm excited to express my interest in the UI/UX Designer role at Kemmy House. With over two years of experience designing intuitive digital products across finance, energy, and emerging tech sectors, I bring a strong foundation in user-centered design, product thinking, and AI-powered workflows, skills that align well with the kind of innovative experiences Kemmy House creates.

I've served as a founding designer twice, working closely with early-stage teams to take products from concept to launch. In my most recent role, I led the end-to-end UX research and design for a product that achieved over 40,000 pre-launch sales, driven by clear usability, a refined design system, and thoughtful user flows. Beyond visual design, I've contributed to product strategy, user testing, iterative refinement, and cross-functional collaboration with engineering, marketing, and business teams.

My work is guided by solving real user problems with experiences that feel simple, intentional, and scalable. I've built productivity tools, onboarding experiences, dashboards, and multi-platform systems, all with a deep focus on clarity, usability, and business outcomes. I also bring experience designing for AI-assisted workflows and improving complex interactions for beginner and expert users.

What draws me to Kemmy House is the brand's commitment to excellence and the quality of your digital experiences. I would be excited to bring my product mindset, UI craft, and strong UX reasoning to your team, helping build engaging interfaces that users trust and enjoy.

I've attached my resume and portfolio for your review. I would love the opportunity to discuss how I can contribute to the design team at Kemmy House.

Warm regards,
Olubanjo Kolapo
